[Nothing contained in this section or in sections sixteen or twenty of this act shall however be taken or construed as preventing any such society from continuing in good faith all contracts made in this Commonwealth during the time such society was legally authorized to transact business herein]

Upon the revocation of the authority of any such foreign society to do business in this Commonwealth for the reason that the valuation of its certificates as hereinbefore provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted asses is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall reinsure all its business and contracts then in force in this Commonwealth within a reasonable time thereafter in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner

Section 4 That section twenty-three of the said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 Every society transacting business under this act shall annually on or before the first day of March file with the Insurance Commissioner in such form as may require a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its transactions for the calendar year standing on that date and shall include therein all accrued liability under unpaid claims where notice was received by the society at its home office before the end of such calendar year No society shall be required to include in such report any claim or claims notice of which had not been received by the society at its home office before the end of such year. It shall also furnish such other information as the Insurance Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society

In addition to the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its benefit fund obligations in force on December thirty-first last preceding excluding those entered into within the year for which the report is filed in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current expenses Such report of valuation shall show as contingent liabilities the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation at not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report less such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and as contingent assets the present mid-year value at the same rate of interest of the future net contributions provided in its constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected

In lieu of the above valuation any society at its option may show the net value of its benefit fund obligations subject to valuation at the rate of interest as hereinbefore provided and said net value when computed in the case of monthly contributions may be the means of the terminal value for the end of the preceding and of the current certificate years from which said tabular values shall be deducted such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and in addition there may be deducted the present worth of the probable future annual savings in death losses as specified in the preceding paragraph

Every such valuation report shall include as a contingent liability an estimate made by or on behalf of the society of the probable future payments under unpaid claims notice of which was received by the society at its home office before the end of the calendar year covered by the annual report but which has not been approved for payment at the date of such report

Deferred payments or instalments of claims whether involving a life contingency or not shall be included in the valuation report as contingent liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or instalments are thereafter to be paid All such liability shall be the present worth of such future payments or instalments at the average rate of interest earned by the society during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

Each valuation report shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary or at the request and expense of the society verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home State of the society and shall be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of June succeeding the submission of the last preceding annual report

The minimum standard of valuation for all benefit fund obligations except for disability and dependent benefits shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality hereinbefore referred to or at the option of the society by any other standard table or a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with an interest assumption of not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during the five calendar years preceding such annual report

Every valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep a separate account of the same in its said valuation report shall charge as a liability the balance to the credit of such fund or funds at the date of such valuation Where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent and total disability benefits the valuation may be of death benefit only and in such case a separate accounting shall not be required

A report of such valuation with such explanation as the society may deem advisable shall be printed and mailed to each beneficial member of the society not later than July first of each year in lieu thereof may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficial member of the society [The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities]

Section 5 That section twenty-three B of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 B In lieu of the valuation heerinbefore required any society may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulated basis" by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year herein designated "cost of insurance" and carrying the balance if any to his credit The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society as applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member

Unless specifically provided in its constitution or laws no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses extending the contributions and credit If after the first valuation any member's share or losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contributions for the year the contributions shall be increased to cover his share of the losses

Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose Any member may transfer to any plans adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on transfer shall be entitled to take such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society Certificates issued rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumption for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth shall be valued on such basis herein designated the "tabular basis" Provided That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis

Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis the total of all costs of insurance provided for any years shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year the deficiency may be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied in the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws

If the laws of the society so provide the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separate for such class as if in an independent society and the required reserve accumulation of such class to set part shall not thereafter be merged with the assets of other classes of the society

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credits the tabular reserve required in the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for the transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as any society may provide by or pursuant to its laws nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner and as expressed in its constitution and laws

Section 6 That the said Act be and the same is hereby amended by adding after Section twenty-three B thereof the following new section

Section 23 C If the valuation of the certificates as herein before provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted assets is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall within five years from the date of the passage of this act either collect additional assessments or increase the rates of contribution from the members to meet such deficiency or classify its members according to the adequacy of the rates they are contributing and charge each class with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by any such valuation

Section 7 That section twenty-five of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 25 Any person who shall solicit membership for or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not authorized to do business in this Commonwealth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than [fifty] five hundred nor more than [two hundred] one thousand dollars Any officer agent or employe of any society neglecting or refusing to comply with or violating any of the provisions of this act the penalty for which refusal or violation is not specified shall upon conviction thereof be fined not exceeding [two hundred] one thousand dollars

Section 8 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

JOHN S. FISHER.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1501.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 12, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 1501, file folio 5587, entitled, "An Act defining the rights of life tenants and remaindermen in and to all stock dividends liquidation dividends conversion rights rights to subscribe to stock or any other right given because of ownership of stock in the estate of any grantor settlor or testator."

This bill provides that in any estate hereafter created, all stock dividends, liquidation dividends, conversion rights, rights to subscribe to stock, or any other rights acquired or given because of stock ownership, shall, as between life tenant and remainderman, be treated as principal and not as income, unless the grantor, settlor or testator shall have directed otherwise in writing.

The Courts of Pennsylvania have, in a number of cases, laid down the rule that whether stock dividends or rights shall be treated as principal or income must be determined in each instance after an investigation of the facts. The objection to this rule is that practically every estate which consists in whole or in part of stocks on which stock dividends are declared must be thrown into litigation for the purpose of determining whether the stock dividends are principal or income. It may be that legislation is desirable to establish a definite rule which would render litigation of this character unnecessary.

I am, however, not satisfied with the present bill, for the reason that it does not distinguish between income which properly belongs to the corpus of the estate, such as that arising from increment in value and liquidation, and income which unquestionably arises from earnings. I understand that the Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is at the present time working upon a uniform bill covering this subject. I feel that this is a subject upon which uniform legislation is desirable, and I believe that it would be better to await the results of the work of the Conference before dealing with this subject by statute in Pennsylvania.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. MATHAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 800.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 11, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 800, file folio 4777, entitled, "An Act to amend Section three of the Act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws ninety-one) entitled 'An act relating to municipal indebtedness imposing certain powers and duties upon the Department of Internal Affairs and the officers of counties cities of the third class boroughs towns townships school districts of the second third and fourth classes and poor districts in connection with proceedings to incur and increase indebtedness and the establishing and maintaining of sinking funds fixing the maximum maturity of refunding bonds and providing penalties.'"

This bill would amend Section 3 of the Act of March 31, 1927, P. L. 91, which gives to the Department of Internal Affairs supervision over bond issues of counties, cities of the third class, boroughs, townships and school districts, except those of the first class and poor districts.

The present bill would exempt from the provisions of the Act bonds, notes or certificates issued for public improvements and secured, or to be secured, by assessments or liens against property assessed or benefited.

No good reason has been brought to my attention for making this exception to the general operation of the Act of 1927.

The Bureau of Municipalities of the Department of Internal Affairs is of the opinion that the approval of this bill would interfere with its work under the Act of 1927 and cause confusion. After carefully considering the matter, I feel constrained to concur in this view.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. NOTHNAGLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion

The motion was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, it seems to me that the members of this Senate, in considering this bill, ought to take into consideration what it means in regard to the road program. A great deal of the road program hinges upon this money, because the revenues that come out of the licenses—the drivers' licenses, the buses and trucks,—their applications are in for this year,—now, if this comes in the first of June of this year and lasts until the first of June next year it allows this program to come in at this time and go on continuously.

I do not need to say to the members of this Senate that, since the passage of the Sproul bill, back in 1911, this bill as a revenue bill is more important, more far reaching, and means more to the State than any other bill that has ever been passed, as far as our roads are concerned.

I believe that with the passage of this bill and the other bills that have gone on ahead Pennsylvania will have a system of roads that will far surpass that of any other State.

Personally, as I said last night, my people are opposed to an increase of the gasoline tax; but when they understand fully just what this program means, it seems to me that we can sacrifice the cost that it will be to us by paying the gasoline tax for a single year. And I am going to justify myself to my constituents, if I can justify myself, by pointing out the great good it will mean to our Commonwealth.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, can the Senator from Potter County, Mr. Baldwin, inform the Senate what the gasoline tax rates are in the States surrounding Pennsylvania? Does Ohio have a four-cent tax?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, Ohio just put a four-cent tax on.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, what is the tax in New York?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, New York has a two-cent tax.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, what is the tax in New Jersey?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I am not certain. I think it is three cents,—two or three cents. But the gentlemen of this Senate have got to consider that if we take off all of our revenues,—last night we took off a pretty liberal slice,—the rank and file of our people bear this and they believe that when your big corporations are having hard times it simply comes on to them. I believe that this bill ought to pass this Senate unanimously.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, when the various bond issues were before the public last fall we were told by those in authority that we did not need the bond issues, we had plenty of money to meet the necessities,—which, of course, include a liberal road program. The bond issues were all defeated, and there is arising a conflict as to how much money is needed. Many of the people are in doubt as to whether there will be a superabundance of funds, an excess, or whether there will finally have to be a curtailment of some of the appropriations that have been made, from time to time, to maintain the institutions supported by the Commonwealth.

The people of my district are very much opposed to the four-cent gasoline tax. Perhaps they were misled last fall by the statement that there would be plenty of money to meet the necessities of the situation. Be that as it may, they are strongly opposed to their members supporting the four-cent gasoline measure. I could not be true to the people I represent, by supporting this bill.

It was well known by the powers that be that very probably the coal tax would be repealed; and last night the session of this Senate passed the repeal of the coal tax, keeping the pledge made to the anthracite regions. Now we are asked to deputiate the pledges made to the people of the Commonwealth last fall on the eve of the general election, by increasing the gasoline tax. No one in the State was told, to my knowledge, that when the Legislature would convene in 1929 there would be a raise in the gas tax, a raise in the fees charged for motor licenses or truck licenses; but here we are confronted by this bill, and we are asked to pass it. My people do not want it, and I am opposed to this measure.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, there has been some objection among my constituents about this particular charge, but I am inclined to believe that is largely due to their feeling that every time a tax has been imposed supposedly temporarily it has been made permanent; and from the very beginning of this discussion I have been most anxious, if there were any increase in taxation, to see it so written that it would automatically repeal itself before the next Legislature meets. And that has been done in this bill. It is not a question for the next Legislature to repeal it. It will be repealed before that time.

Furthermore, I feel that the argument the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, advanced should be convincing and reasonable to our constituents at home. We need this temporary revenue in order to go ahead with the work now, until the increase of the license fees shall become effective; and when that has been done, then there is no further reason for this four-cent tax. I shall support this measure.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, the greatest evidence that we need roads is the program which was placed on our desks this morning. Although I come from a city I find we receive less than they do in the country districts. The program laid out by the Highway Department for the next biennium is probably "the most comprehensive and constructive road program since the enactment of the original Sproul Highway Law in 1911.'

"This sevenfold program, prepared from the point of view of the Commonwealth as a whole, 'not in the interest of any one, two or three counties but in the interest of sixty-seven counties of the State,' may be summarized briefly as follows:

"1. All State Highways in boroughs to be constructed, reconstructed and maintained one hundred per cent. by the State.

"2. All State-aid roads and all concrete township reward roads heretofore or hereafter improved to be maintained one hundred per cent. by the State as part of the State Highway System.

"3. All roads heretofore or hereafter improved under township reward to be maintained fifty per cent. by the State up to a maximum cost to the State of $100.00 per mile.

"4. Adoption of a definite program for the completion of the State Highway System with allocation of $23,500,000.00, out of current revenues, to counties throughout the State on the basis of unimproved State Highway mileage within maximum and minimum limits of $600,000.00 and $200,000.00 respectively. The amount allocated leaves a necessary surplus for emergency projects.

"5. Appropriation of $2,000,000.00 for construction, reconstruction and maintenance of city streets on State Highway Routes in cities of the second class, second class A, and third class.

"6. Appropriation of $750,000.00 for city streets on State Highway routes in cities of the first class.

"7. All county bridges on State Highways to be taken over by the State as of June 1, 1930, with the provision that such bridges may be taken over prior to June 1, 1930.

"8. Appropriation of $6,000,000.00 for township reward with new classification of townships for allocation purposes, requiring poorer townships to pay only twenty-five per cent. of the cost instead of fifty per cent., as at present. This sum of $6,000,000.00 is double the appropriation of two years ago, and is subject to still further increase if finances should permit.

It is unnecessary to say here that good roads do pay dividends in the form of cheaper operating costs and saving of time for the motorist, in the increase of property values, in the employment of labor and materials, in very real farm relief, in the betterment of life in country communities. It is well to point out that of the $13,000,000.00 which, it is estimated this program will cost in the next two years, $10,000,000.00 is directly returnable in relief from the burden of taxation where the burden is heaviest, i. e., in local taxation in every city, county, town, township and borough of the Commonwealth."

I think that, with such an argument, every member, if he insists on having good roads, should vote for this bill; and I ask the Senate to take this into consideration, regardless of what they hear from home or abroad. It is necessary to have money to build roads,—just as necessary as it is to have money to build your homes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this four-cent gasoline tax in another illustration of the hit or miss system that we have in Pennsylvania; and we complain about it but we know in the bottom of our hearts that the real solution is a State income tax,—and everybody hates the sound of "income tax"; but if you will look upon the statute books you will see so many taxes that are not paid-one of the most glaring examples, and not very much attention has been paid to it, is that of the private banks. They are supposed to pay one per cent. gross on all their revenues. You can imagine the private banks in Philadelphia, doing the enormous business they do, if they were to pay one per cent. on their income, or receipts, as recorded in the Audtior General's office,— it would be well over $16,000 a year; it would be $60,000 or $70,000. Now, that is an example of a very unjust tax,—so unfair it is not paid.

Any temporary tax is a confession of weakness. If the Senate will allow me just to read these figures for a minute: In 1915 the Commonwealth's budget for the biennium was $62,000,000, —in 1915. The budget for this biennium is $317,000,000. According to the Budget Officer, for the next biennium it will be $340,000,000. No wonder you have to scratch gravel to get more money to pay the budget—what the budget calls for. But this is a very clumsy, awkward device, and also temporary.

I have not made up my mind,—the Secretary of the Senate was impolite enough to ask me yesterday how I was going to vote. I told him I did not know that it was any of his business, it was my business. But I have not made up my mind yet. Senator Williamson says he will vote "no", and Senator Weingartner says he will vote "aye"; between Williamson and Weingartner I have to make up my mind.

Mr. SALUS. On the question of this gasoline tax I imagine there are a good many people in Philadelphia who do not want to pay this extra one cent, and their reason is that the major part of this money, possibly 60% of it, will be paid by those living in and around Philadelphia; yet I feel that all our Philadelphia Senators are going to vote for this bill, and we are going to vote for it on the theory of brotherhood, we are going to vote for it on the theory that we are going to help our country members to get new roads in order that they may enjoy life and drive to and from their homes and enjoy themselves and get all the benefits of life.

And maybe, when we get those new roads, and get them in good shape, when you come down to Philadelphia some night on a hunting trip some of the gunmen in Philadelphia may hold up some of our country members that would not support the firearms bill; and we are particularly anxious to give them the opportunity to go to Philadelphia or Pittsburgh or some other of our big cities—that have been praying for the passage of this firearms bill—so that they may get down there and get a dose of really what is coming to them.

But in the meantime we in Philadelphia are going to be big enought and sportsmen enough—and I feel that is where the real sportsmanship, is concerned, because we are going to take the worst of it in order to see that our country members are going to be happy and contented; and I am going to ask them to stay home after seven o'clock at night.

Mr. FRAZIER. Mr. President, I think when my constituents in West Philadelphia, who have been writing me in great volume to oppose this bill, realize that we are going to have $750,000 for the State Highways running through Philadelphia—and knowing that the Lincoln Highway runs through my district, as it would run; and when they come to a realization that probably I am one of the poorest in the district, and am going to pay the extra tax on my automobiles,—because I konw that it will only amount in the year, on each machine, to probably four or five dollars, which means if we cannot afford it we must stay home from a pleasure ride only one Sunday,—but the spending of this vast amount of money which the State anticipates spending on the improvement of roads,—I thing, as a matter of fact, if someone would scientifically analyze it, it would mean that instead of this extra tax for a year being an expense to them—and especially because we could get increased use of our tires, increased mileage from our gas and longer life to our machines by having many of these ruts and bumps we have to go over taken out of our highways;—I think when the citizens of Pennsylvania come to a realization of what this means, this very strenuous opposition will go up in smoke. I am therefore going to vote for this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCROSSIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, April 16, 1929.

Whereas it is becoming more and more prevalent in modern industry to bar from employment men over forty-five years of age

Whereas the progress in the development of labor-saving machinery has been such that from year to year more and more men lose employment, although it is understood that this resolution is not intended in any way to disparage the use of such machinery

Whereas the industrial and commercial systems of the State have also in recent years instituted pension and retirement plans and in obedience to statutory laws are confronted with the cost of compensation insurance

Whereas from a preliminary study and survey it seems that through the installation of modern machinery retirement systems compensation laws and other contributory factors there are at the present time thousands of able bodied men unable to find or secure work

Whereas if it be true that industrial and commercial employers are barring from work men over forty-five years of age this means that the burdens of industrial and commercial life are being placed upon young shoulders which will in time endanger the economic structure

Whereas the Honorable James J. Davis, Secretary of the Department of Labor of the United States, has frequently in public addresses called the attention of employers to this condition

Whereas the American Federation of Labor at the present time is conducting a national survey to ascertain the truthfulness of these reports

Whereas the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Pennsylvania has been actively engaged in enlisting the employers of Pennsylvania in a cooperative way in lifting of these age bans and

Whereas it is very evident that a thorough study of this unemployment problem should be made to ascertain the real facts,

Therefore be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) that His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania, be empowered and he is hereby empowered to appoint a commission of seven men to study this problem and report to the Legislative session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one with a full report as to the extent men of over forty-five years of age being barred from employment and to ascertain as nearly as possible the exact number of men affected by this rule of industry, if it exists; also to make such recommendations as to it seems fit and proper in the form of proposed legislation to the end that this situation may be remedied. This commission shall consist of seven members, to be made up as follows: one Senator to be appointed by the President of the Senate and one Representative to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and five to be appointed by the Governor. Of these five one shall be an employee or official of the State Department of Labor and Industry, one a representative of organized labor and one representative of industry, the remaining two may be appointed at the full discretion of the Governor.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. President, I move that the resolution be committed to the Committee on Forestry.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION No. 24.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSION TO STUDY EMPLOYMENT OF MEN OVER FORTY-FIVE YEARS OF AGE.

Mr. MUSMANNO called up Resolution No. 24, file folio 6417, which was read as follows:

Whereas, it is becoming more and more prevalent in modern industry to bar from employment men over forty-five years of age

Whereas the progress in the development of labor saving machinery has been such that from year to year more and more men lose employment although it is understood that this resolution is not intended in any way to discharge the use of such machinery

Whereas the industrial and commercial systems of the State have also in recent years instituted pension and retirement plans and in obedience to statutory laws are confronted with the cost of compensation insurance

Whereas from a preliminary study and survey it seems that through the installation of modern machinery retirement systems compensation laws and other contributory factors there are at the present time thousands of able-bodied men unable to find or secure work

Whereas if it be true that industrial and commercial employers are barring from work men over forty-five years of age this means that the burdens of industrial and commercial life are being placed upon young shoulders which will in time endanger the economic structure

Whereas the Honorable James J Davis Secretary of the Department of Labor of the United States has frequently in public addresses called the attention of employers to this condition

Whereas the American Federation of Labor at the present time is conducting a national survey to ascertain the truthfulness of these reports

Whereas the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Pennsylvania has been actively engaged in enlisting the employers of Pennsylvania in a cooperative way in lifting of these age bans and

Whereas it is very evident that a thorough study of this unemployment problem should be made to ascertain the real facts—

Therefore be it resolved (If the Senate concur) that His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania be empowered and he is hereby empowered to appoint a commission of seven men to study this problem and report to the Legislative Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one with a full report as to the extent men of over forty-five years of age are being barred from employment and to ascertain as nearly as possible the exact number of men affected by this rule of industry if it exists also to make such recommendations as to it seems fit and proper in the form of proposed legislation to the end that this situation may be remedied. This Commission shall consist of seven members to be made up as follows one Representative to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives one Senator to be appointed by the President of the Senate and five to be appointed by the Governor. Of these five one shall be an employee or official of the State Department of Labor and Industry one a representative of organized labor and one representative of Industry the remaining two may be appointed at the full discretion of the Governor.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, when this resolution was called up for consideration last week a reasonable suggestion was made on the floor of the House that some effort should be made to secure an appropriation to carry the provisions of the resolution into effect. I have taken the matter up with Mr. Townsend, the budget officer, and he tells me that at this late date no appropriation can be provided for. I think the resolution should be passed nevertheless, because I am certain there are enough public-spirited citizens from which the Governor can make selection of a committee to carry this resolution into effect. I therefore ask you to vote favorably on this resolution.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. This resolution was called up last week and you will doubtless remember that I said that to me it seemed only like a gesture. I am in sympathy with what the gentleman from Allegheny is trying to get at, but nothing can be accomplished by resolutions of this character. This commission if appointed will have no power to compel the attendance of any witnesses nor the power to require from any corporation or any employer any records that they may seek to look into, and for that reason it seems to me the resolution ought not to pass. It ought to be defeated because this House cannot go on record at this time as creating commissions from which they cannot get any results. Therefore, I ask the House at this time to vote down the resolution.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Washington absolutely fails to see the purpose of this resolution if he wishes to interpret from it that its presentation was a mere gesture when he casts reflection upon such individuals as might be appointed by the Governor to carry this resolution into effect. Those who would be appointed under the resolution would be one representative from this body, one senator, one representative from organized labor, one representative of industry, one representative from the State Department of Labor and Industry, and two to be appointed at the full discretion of the Governor. I repeat, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that I am certain a sufficient number of public-minded citizens can be found in this Commonwealth who would be willing to do this work without compensation.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?
The Speaker declared the noes appear to have it.
Whereupon a division was called for and 54 members rose in the affirmative and 72 in the negative, the resolution was determined in the negative and the resolution was not adopted.

RESOLUTION.

FORWARDING HOUSE FILES TO MEMBERS.

Mr. TALBOT offered a resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 16, 1929.

Whereas, The files of the bills presented to and the proceedings of the General Assembly of the Session of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine are the property of the Members thereof, and are desired for preservation by said Members, and

Whereas, Said files have, at former sessions, been forwarded to the homes of the Members at the conclusion of the Session by the Department of Property and Supplies, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of the said Department of Property and Supplies shall be requested by the Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives to forward such files and supplies belonging to the Members of the House of Representatives as they may designate, to such address as shall be furnished by them to the said Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the said Resident Clerk to the Secretary of the said Department of Property and Supplies.
